INTRODUCTION

There are many ways to discover Geneva. This promenade, led by the play of colours and lights of the city is spectacular, because the city takes a particular appearance during twilight hours.

Mike Gorsky testifies in this book of this amazing transformation that allows Geneva to be born again in another form through these different lights which attach to stones, trees, the lake and create a mysterious atmosphere.

He leads us in familiar places but rarely or even never perceived under the light of dusk, because this magical moment of transition from day to night lasts only a few minutes and one simply has no time to appreciate this moment. contemplator.
